The shift to net zero energy systems has changed the face of our power grid. Traditional large-scale synchronous generators found inside coal and natural gas plants are being replaced with inverter-based resource (IBR) technologies. This transition to an IBR-dominant power grid introduces new characteristics, altering how our grid operates.

"The government is promoting energy transition through renewable energy investments, notably a 10 MW wind farm and 150 MW of solar farm by 2030.4 "Cabo Verde aims to increase the RE share in the electricity generation mix from 18.4% in 2020 to 30% in 2025 and to 50% by 2030.4

OverviewGrid-following vs. grid-formingFeaturesVulnerabilitiesSourcesAn inverter-based resource (IBR) is a source of electricity that is asynchronously connected to the electrical grid via an electronic power converter ("inverter"). The devices in this category, also known as converter interfaced generation (CIG), include the variable renewable energy generators (wind, solar) and battery storage power stations. These devices lack the intrinsic behaviors (like the inertial response of a synchronous generator) and their features are almost entirely defined ...

The energy sector in Cabo Verde has accomplished tremendous progress in the past 10 years: access has increased from 47 percent in 2000 to more than 90 percent today, although quality of service remains a challenge. The GoV"s target is to achieve universal electricity access by 2020.
