The Isle of Man is home to many palm trees, normally growing in Southern Europe, they find the mild Manx climate well suited, as air temperatures rarely drop below zero. Heat pumps are also well suited to the Manx climate, which has an average annual temperature of 10°C, in comparison the UKs average temperature is 7°C.

Trees in the Isle of Man are protected under The Tree Preservation Act 1993. The Department of Environment, Food and Agriculture (DEFA) administers the Act and the Department"s Tree Protection Policy describes how DEFA will fulfil its statutory duty. It stipulates how various aspects of the legislation have been interpreted by DEFA, how the ...

"The solar farm would generate enough power to meet more than 7% of the Isle of Man"s current electricity demand and support the Government"s aim for electricity on the Island to be 100% green by 2030." The project represents an investment of around £30m across the 40-year anticipated life of the project, with no public investment.

Douglas council is to start producing its own sustainable solar energy. The local authority has approved funding for a solar farm to power some of its facilities. The generation facility would be built in Braddan and have a life span of around 20 years. It"s thought the savings will mean it"ll effectively pay for itself within five to seven years.

Solar photovoltaic panels - Solar PV panels are installed on your roof and use silicon based technology to collect sunlight and change it into electricity. Solar PV panels can last up to 30 years, won"t freeze during cold weather and can provide up to 60% of the energy you need.
