Sri Lanka anker powerhouse 767

What is an anker 767 powerhouse?

The Anker 767 PowerHouse is an aptly named portable power stationthat leans more into power than it does portability. The Anker 767 PowerHouse certainly lives up to its namesake: offering plenty of power inside and outside the home.

What is the difference between Anker 767 and zendure power station?

Like the Anker 767 PowerHouse,the Zendure power station also includes a retractable handle and is compatible with solar charging. The Zendure power station also has a slightly larger capacityof 2,096Wh vs the PowerHouse's 2,048Wh. Admittedly,the Zendure is a US import with US power outlets,which makes it less convenient.

Is the powerhouse 767 a good portable power station?

The PowerHouse 767's massive power,enhanced portability,expandable capacity,improved solar input,and remote app control are all worthy features that solidify this portable power station as a top performer in the industry.

How much power does a 767 portable power station save?

*If every active camper household in the US used our 767 Portable Power Station in place of a non GaNPrime(TM) power station at the same wattage,the amount of power saved could be up to 4.434 TeraWatts per year. Data calculated by Anker based on statistical information from EIA and the Annual North American Camping Report 2021.

How long does an anker 767 powerhouse take to charge?

During a half-hour charge on a sunny day,the Anker 767 PowerHouse was drawing up to 154W max power with an estimated recharge time of just shy of seven hourswith a 52% charge. It's winter in Australia at the time of writing,so the prospect of a 14-hour charge when there are only around 10 hours of sunlight isn't ideal.

Does the Anker 767 powerhouse work with CPAP?

A powered source is preferable,which is where the Anker 767 PowerHouse steps in because it acts like a power outlet. My overnight test involved connecting a bedside lamp and CPAP machine before sleep. The Anker 767 PowerHouse measured a max of 70W output and,with 56% battery life at the time,estimated 22.6 hours remaining.
