Is Yemen an energy importer?
Yemen is not a net energy importer,but it has the lowest level of electricity connection in the Middle East,with only 40% of the population having access to electricity. Rural areas are particularly badly affected.

How much energy does Yemen use?
In 2017,oil made up about 76% of the total primary energy supply,natural gas about 16%,biofuels and waste about 3.7%,wind and solar energies etc. about 1.9%,and coal about 2.4%. According to the International Energy Agency report,the final consumption of electricity in Yemen in 2017 was 4.14 TWh.

Does Yemen have electricity?
Even before the conflict in 2015, most of Yemen's population was deprived of basic electricity services. Yemen has the lowest electricity access rate in the Middle East and North Africa. The power obtained from the grid or off-grid sources is estimated to be 40 to 60% (MOEE).

What is the main energy source in Yemen?
According to the International Energy Agency,in 2000,oilmade up 98.4% of the total primary energy supply in Yemen with the remainder comprising biofuels and waste (International Energy Agency). Natural gas and coal were introduced into the energy mix around 2008,and wind and solar energies were added around 2015.

What is the energy mix in Yemen?
However,Yemen's current energy mix is dominated by fossil fuels(about 99.91%),with renewable energy accounting for only about 0.009%. The national renewable energy and energy efficiency strategy,on the other hand,sets goals,including a 15% increase in renewable energy contribution to the power sector by 2025 (Fig. 11).

How is Yemen dealing with energy problems?
Yemen is dealing with the dilemma of energy networks that are unstable and indefensible. Due to the fighting, certain energy systems have been completely damaged, while others have been partially devastated, resulting in a drop in generation capacity and even fuel delivery challenges from power generation plants.
